A Joke That Has Gone Far Enough.

Under existing conditions expert testimony in criminal trials is to be regarded, according to the point of view, as a farce or a tragedy. The expert witness presents us the humiliating spectacle of the alleged scientist turned advocate, mountebank and trickster. He appears as a professional partisan—for hire. He hides his true opinions behind equivocal or evasive answers—for a consideration. He expresses by implication views he does not really hold—that he may seem to earn his fee. In a word, he sacrifices his mistress, Science, at the shrine of Mammon.

At all events, he is openly accused of all of this and much more in kind. He is ridiculed, scoffed at, jeered. The most charitable of popular opinions as to his character seems to be that which regards him as an unmitigated joke. And meantime he is placed in such a position that it is impossible for him to defend himself against these allegations. He may be a true scientist, learned, honest, conscientious, but under existing conditions he cannot prove that he is such. The populace will judge him by his company, and as matters stand some portions of his company are pretty certain to be bad. Whatever his real character, the fate of poor Tray awaits him.

The spirit of the law is said to be common sense. But its letter has certainly permitted a wide departure from this alleged standard. The attempt to add to the communal weal by utilizing the knowledge of experts has culminated in something now removed from total sanity. What should be a most serious function has passed into a joke, and by common consent the joke has gone far enough.—Dr. Henry Smith Williams in North American Review.

Grant and Meade.

General Horace Porter, in his "Campaigning With Grant" in The Century, after speaking of General Meade's somewhat anomalous position, quotes General Grant as follows: "I am fully aware that some embarrassments arise from the present organization, but there is more weight on the other side of the question. I am commanding all the armies, and I cannot neglect others by giving my time exclusively to the Army of the Potomac, which would involve performing all the detailed duties of an army commander, directing its administration, enforcing discipline, reviewing its court martial proceedings, etc. I have Burnside's, Butler's and Sigel's armies to look after in Virginia, to say nothing of our western armies, and I am a wife Sheridan's cavalry a separate command. Besides, Meade has served a long time with the Army of the Potomac. He is subordinate officers thoroughly and led it to a memorable victory at Gettysburg. I have just come from the west, and if I removed a deserving captain from the position of army commander my motives might be misinterpreted, and the effect be bad upon the spirits of the troops. General Meade and I are in close contact on the field. He is capable and perfectly subordinate, and by retaining to the details he gives me of much unnecessary work and gives me more time to think and to mature my general plans.

"I will always see that he gets full credit for what he does." This was a broad view of the situation, and one to which the general mainly adhered throughout the war, but after that day he gave a closer personal direction in battle to the movements of subdivisions of the armies.

Drop Nickels For Tickets.

Abundantly people drop many things besides tickets in the boxes provided over by the ticket choppers at the elevated stations. For a man to drop a nickel in is of common occurrence. Often larger coins, and occasionally bills, are deposited. In order to get such things back the forgetful person has to apply the next day at the main office of the company. He cannot even travel on the strength of his overlarge contribution, but must buy a ticket with one of the nickels he has left.

The money dropped in the ticket chopper's box gets mingled in the chipping process and will not always pass current afterward. A bill is likely to get so badly mutilated that it cannot be patched together.

Other things besides money occasionally find their way into the ticket chopper's box with equally damaging results.—New York Sun.

Wanted a Change.

He was about as black as the traditional ace of spades. And two dusky daughters, each of whom claimed the right to call him husband, sat bolt upright in the courtroom and glared at the defendant.

"Yo'r honor," said the prisoner, "I want to apply for a change of venue in this case."

"On what ground?" inquired the court.

"I want a change of venue," repeated the defendant, "because one of dese women is prejudiced ag'in me."—Troy Times.

Strategic Points.

Strategic points in military art are such as command communications, whether by rail or river, like Atlanta, in Georgia, and Cairo or Vicksburg, on the Mississippi. The capital, or leading city of a country, is of strategic importance, since its capture causes the general discouragement of the people.

The invention of the purse was doubtless contemporaneous with that of money. The purse is mentioned in Old Testament history as a part of a traveler's outfit. When the disciples, spoken of in the gospels, were sent forth to preach, they were commanded to take neither gold nor silver nor brass in their purses.

Pocketknives are now machine made, the blades being stamped from strips of steel and afterward ground and polished before being fixed in the handle. The assembling of the different parts of the knife is a matter of hand labor.

Their names are in the paper every day. In the obituary column. The names of men killed by neglect of their health combined with overwork. They should serve as a warning to others who are fast fooding in the footsteps of no man can stand the strain of modern business competition who willfully neglects his health. It is not good policy to overwork, but the man who looks after his health can stand a great deal of it. The man who neglects his health is soon unfitted for work. When a man's digestion is disordered and his bowels are irregular, his blood becomes impure and the body is badly nourished. The victim of these conditions suffers from brain fog, nervous prostration, and debility, and eventually falls a victim to consumption.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery corrects the digestion, invigorates the liver, improves the appetite and regulates the bowels. It is the best blood-purifier, blood-maker, flesh-builder, and nerve tonic. It makes a man well, strong, clear-headed and fit for business. It enables him to stand a reasonable amount of overwork. All good druggists sell it. There's nothing 'just as good'.

Chas. Fairbairn, of Brownlee, Cherry Co., Neb., writes: "I have used Dr. Pierce's medicine especially the 'Golden Medical Discovery' with much benefit. Some time ago I was troubled with great distress in my stomach and bowels, so I had to sleep at night. I thought it was the muscles of my arm that caused the trouble. I began taking the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Soon I felt a decided improvement and before I had taken the second bottle the aching was all gone, and it has not returned. I have a copy of your 'Common Sense Medical Advice' and would not do without it for any money."

Knowing how to take care of health is half the battle against illness. Dr. Pierce's great book, 'Common Sense Medical Advice' is the educator of the age. This book reached a sale of 50,000 copies at $1.00 each. Within its 1,000 pages is compressed the best that Dr. Pierce has gathered by study and thought. THE IRON NOOK AT HOME.

From this one nook the world is seen away.
By four low walls that bound the realm of home content. Here love and peace hold sway.Here pride and hate and malice never come.
And when the purring flames dip the night True friends are they that sit within the glow.Kind eyes shine brighter in the flickering light.
And home's own voices, hushed to silence low.Speak—or are silent in a hush that speaks Even's the fire upon the hearthstone dim-Of home, the haven that each mortal seeks:
 Of home, the goal of all our wanderings.
 And hope's and memory's fairest visions come To hover o'er the iron nook at home.

—J. L. Heston in "The Quilting Bee."

SOME QUEER CUSTOMS.

Mining Camp Dishwashing and Tidy Inland Teaming.An old camper out once related to a dismal housekeeper his experience of dishwashing in a mining camp. It did not take much thought, though the company was numerous and the utensils of the kitchen were in constant use. The reason why it took but little time he sufficiently indicated by the statement that the cook pot was not cleaned till it became too small to hold a pudding of reasonable size. Then somebody got a hammer and knocked off the hardened scum from its interior till it was reduced nearly enough to its original capacity to render further service.On Tidy Island, an out of the way bit of an Irish islet, and indeed to a less degree throughout Donegal, the natives are not much more tidy in their living, and their habit of letting the grounds remain indefinitely in their tearful disconsolate consequences."Every day and all day long," says a recent writer, "the tenant sits stew-ing in the chambers of the hearth, and at each successive brew fresh tea is thrown in, but the old is never thrown out untill the pot is choked." The result is an unusual and excessive rate of insanity.Little wonder, when a Tidy Island boy who was questioned as to his usual meals, could reply:

SHIP LIGHTING.

How Electrical Appliances Are Now Utilized For This Purpose.

When electrical plants were first installed aboard ship, lead incased cables, run in ordinary molding, were used almost entirely, and in one of iron ships the hull was frequently employed for the return circuit. The latter method now passed out of use, for it not only increased the fire hazard, but was inefficient, mechanically, and also liable to give rise to disturbing influences on the ship's compass.

Lead incased conductors in ordinary molding were used on the first two United States men-of-war having electrical plants—the Trenton and Omaha—but with unsatisfactory results in each case. In the latter ship, the electrical plant of which was installed by the writer in 1884, the lead incased port and starboard mains passed through holes bored in live oak knees, one hole for each main, six feet of run, and the writer has a vivid recollection of the difficulties encountered in boring general holes through oak, and half inch holes through about eight inches of gunned oak, very nearly as hard to pierce as some of the toughest metals. It is perhaps needless to say that the cost of labor and tools was no small item in the cost of installation.

Lead incased conductors were finally discarded, except in some special work, as the protection from injury to the installation and from moisture, which the lead sheath was supposed to give, was found to be illusory. Davis caused short circuiting on the sheath of the conductors, while punctures, permitting the entrance of moisture, led to bad grounds as well as short circuits.

At the present day what may be calling a composite system for the installation of the distributing conductors is employed. Equal security in all parts of the installation is the object kept in view, and to obtain this several systems are blended, together as one. While molding and flexible conductors are used in the saloons and cabins, the conductors in the machinery spaces and holds are run in iron conduits, which are thoroughly insulated on the inside, and special fittings are employed in passing through the decks and bulkheads. Special water tight switches, cutouts and fixtures are also used wherever there is exposure to the weather.—E. G. Bernard in Custer's Magazine.

A Public School In Germany.

It was 8 o'clock, and school was about to begin. A signal from the teacher the boys arose in their places, and with bowed heads stood in reverential silence while one of their number recited a short prayer. As soon as the boys were again in their seats the teacher began the recitation; and I began to gaze about the room. There were nearly 50 boys seated on ten plain board benches, with the same number of equally long and plain desks in front, an almost exact reproduction of the furniture of the New England district schoolhouse of a generation ago.The teacher's desk, which stood upon a high and very small platform, was equally in appearance and devoid of ornament. The walls and ceiling of the room were of a soft brown color slightly tinged with green, while the benches and desks, including that of the teacher, were stained a darker brown, excepting the tops of the desks, which were painted a dull black. There were windows on only one side of the room, and the seats were so arranged that the rays of light fell upon the pupils' books over the left shoulder. There was only one blackboard in the room, and that was a small wooden one which was placed behind the teacher's desk and was accessible only to a person standing upon the teacher's platform. Croyon marks upon the blackboard were removed by means of a moist sponge, never with a dry eraser. In many of the schoolrooms which I subsequently visited there were a few good pictures to be seen, and the tint of the walls varied somewhat, but in all essential features that first schoolroom was typical of all that I saw afterward.—Educational Review.

A Success.

"Were your theatrical entertainments for charity a success?" asked one girl.

"Yes, indeed. We got $107.25."

"Indeed! You must have had a large audience.""No. We took in $7.25 at the ticket office, and father gave us $100 never to do it again."—Washington Star.

Her Tribute to Lucy Stone.

Mrs. Mary E. Holmes, the faithful and efficient president of the Illinois Equal Suffrage association, has been obliged by domestic cares and duties to resign her official position. She will be greatly missed, but will continue to advise and plan for the cause. In a private letter she writes:"If dear Lucy Stone was on the earth, I should explain to her first of all why I have resigned my state position. She was and is my inspiration and godmother in suffrage work. She was such a good wife and mother that I feel sure she would tell me to do my duty to the home before any other. I hope I can return to the work at some future time, but now heart and brain must be given to the home and home interests. I shall still do what little I can for our beloved cause, and shall watch the battle with great interest."

Not Repentant.

Professor James of Harvard denies that penina is a disease. Probably those who hold otherwise would be willing to admit that the disease is not yet epidemic.—Chicago Times-Herald.

PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND.

FOR EVERY BICYCLIST.

Champion Michael Advises Use of Paine's Celery Compound.James Michael is the champion long distance bicyclist of the world.He recommends all wheelmen to take Paine's Celery Compound.His experience is that of thousands of others. With the opening of the bicycle season many a young person and hundred of older people who have determined to take up bicycling as a health-giving exercise find themselves lacking the proper "snap" or stamina to begin on. Their bodily condition prevents so spirited exercise.They would like to ride but they are out of sorts, run down by a winter of work or indoor life. Many who are really sick, who have suffered from debility or wasting diseases for a long time until they had begun to think their troubles had become chronic, as nothing gave them relief, would turn to bicycling for relief. But this splendid exercise, like any other, requires strength to undertake. The blood is out of order, the nerves are deranged and nature's food for both is needed.All such persons will find it to their immense joy that Paine's Celery Compound, taken now, will make them well.Paine's Celery Compound works wonders in the spring. If you have labored under the load of repeated headaches, neuragic pains and days of nervous debility, now is your best time to get well.Michael is to-day the most phenomenal rider in professional ranks. As far back as 1884 he was the undisputed champion of Great Britain, and in the following year he went to France and scored 25 straight wins against the fought riders of Europe. He has defeated such famous men as Jacquelin, Georgoltz, Hurst, Riviere, Bonhours, Bourillon and Borden of England, and Leyten, the Belgian champion.Every one needs to take a spring remedy to purify their blood, restore the circulation and counteract the debilitating effects of months of confining work, worry and excitement.The more intelligent portion of every community are the ones who best recommend Paine's Celery Compound.
They have looked into this great remedy, followed its remarkable achievements in the case of friends, neighbors and relatives, and know just what to expect from its use as a nerve and brain strengthener and restorer, and an ideal invigorator for a run-down system.

BOSTON, MASS., Feb. 21 1897.

After the exertion of my record rides while with the Morgan & Wright team in the south last winter, during which I lost somewhat in weight on account of the unseasonable climate, I was advised to use Paine's Celery Compound.
I am pleased to say that it gave such satisfaction that I was impelled to use it again to brace up from the two unusually rough ocean trips that I have taken during the past month. I believe that wheelmen who have to undergo the hardships of "circuit chasing" will find Paine's Celery Compound of assistance in keeping up their physical tone.

The tariff speech made by Mr. Newland in Congress the other day is receiving much attention owing to the fact that it is supposed to sound the action of the silver men. Congressional telegrams and letters have been received by him since, to show that he has struck a key note and that the American people is ready to respond to it, for with the failure of the tariff bill to relieve hard times, the silver party has no other recourse to offer, not a pretext to show, a resource or a makeshift left, but a demand out of their own mouth, stated by their own arguments, they go down.

The fact that Mr. Newland spoke at the hour on the second day with our time at his disposal, shows that he is beginning to be recognized; and two terms have given him a great weight. His speech was illustrated by two maps, and no man has yet been able to refute their object lesson. Mr. Newland was prominently known of for membership on the Ways and Means Committee and is still regarded as the best equipped man from the West. But that selfish policy and its of revenge which rankles in the heart and his coterie of Eastern trust men caused him to thwart it was almost a unanimous request in the Republicans of the Ways and Means Committee for the appointment of Newlands.

He may live to see the day when in the silver party and Democratic Congress, Newlands will have it in his power to refer committee appointments on the tariff. This last attempt at the restoration of prosperity on the part of the Republicans and their signal failure carry it out will swamp them in a defeat.

Mr. Newland is no less distasteful than McKinleyism. Yet, it is the wise sense of the Silver men amounting to a domestic shrewdness, which is disturbing the Republican party. To support this bill disarms the Republican party, for if the Silver men could be defeated out as stubborn obstructionists, they would be weakened, but the riotism of the Silver men can no longer be questioned. Newlands is the father of the movement which has resulted in this policy, and the harvest will surely come in.

THE PROSPECT NOT ENCOURAGING.

Judging from the debate on the tariff and the various changes proposed the lower house of Congress, the Senate will have a multiplicity of amendments to solve, and it is not very probable any great haste will be made in solving them. The bill will likely be thoroughly overhauled and by the time it is ready for final action, the inducement, Mr. Dingley, will hardly recognize it. The usual effort will doubtless be made to delay the measure and keep the issue of tariff before the people, for the Republican party has little else to bank on, and the leaders of the party are so dubious as to the successful application of the law, should pass, that they are not overly anxious to push it through.

Confidence and prosperity was the little cry of that party during the late campaign, and while it is true that these two words had much to do with inspiring the followers to victory, it seems now to be a desire to still hold them up before the people, and the words "wait and hope" have been added in order to pacify the discontent rapidly growing in the ranks.

Confidence in the prompt action of the Republican Congress on the tariff bill, the passage of which would surely bring prosperity, according to the promises of the leaders, is rapidly growing less and the tinkering now going on with the Dingley bill does not have the effect of encouraging the people to hope for any immediate action, and the anticipated wave of industry and better times, seems to be receding from, rather than rolling over the country.

What the Senate will do with the bill remains to be seen, and in the meantime the people can wait, but waiting causes unrest, dissatisfaction, strikes, suffering, crimes and war.

A TARIFF ON HIDES.

Several members of Congress from the Western States and Texas offered an amendment to the Dingley bill placing a tariff on hides. The advocates of the bill, nearly all of whom are working in the interest of Eastern manufacturers, opposed the amendment and as they are in the majority no action was taken.

It is remarkable, if anything that Eastern members do could create surprise, that hides should be placed on the free list, by men who claim that the Dingley tariff bill is a protective as well as a revenue measure. Not an argument can be advanced in favor of a tariff on wool that does not apply with equal force to hides. We do not produce enough hides or wool to supply the home market. Every farmer as well as cattle-raiser in the West would derive more or less benefit from a tariff on hides, but that would interfere with the shoemakers of New England and Philadelphia and their interests must be protected regardless of consequences to the West.

It is quite probable that when the Dingley bill gets to the Senate Western interests will be consulted and that a duty will be placed on hides. Surely the Senators from the States west of the Mississippi, all of which are engaged to a greater or less extent in the cattle business, will see that their constituents are accorded a fair show in the arrangement of the tariff schedules.

A TERRIBLE CYCLONE.

Death, Suffering and Destruction Left in its Wake.

GUTHRIE, O. T., March 31.—Chaos reigned in Chandler. Last night's terrible cyclone turned the peaceful town of 1,500 inhabitants into a veritable morgue. The principal business buildings and residences lie wrecked, a grim reminder of the storm's work.

The death list is variously estimated at from 25 to 50, with the injured numbering from 75 to twice that number. Already 20 dead bodies have been recovered. The night was one of indescribable terror. With the better part of the inhabitants dead or dying and the remainder too badly injured or unable from fright or because of darkness to render assistance, little better order than bedlam prevailed.

The rain poured down on the desolate inhabitants and added horror to the situation. Many of the injured lay in the wrecks of their homes until day light made it possible for them to help themselves or aid from surrounding towns arrived. Many wrecks took fire and burned themselves out, several still smoldering when morning broke over the town. It is believed that many of the missing were burned to death. The cyclone struck Chandler without warning at 6 o'clock last evening.

The work of carnage began before the inhabitants realized what was upon them. Hardly any means of escape was left. Stores were hurled right and left, lifted high into the air and tossed in every direction. The court house, in which Chief Justice Dale was holding court, was taken off its foundation and crushed. Passing on through the residence district, the wind demon rushed into the open country, where it spent itself, leaving its trail of wreck and ruin most complete. Houses rested on their tops, the streets were piled high with debris, overturned stores started fires and the unhampered fire began its part in the work of destruction.

A deluge came which was probably the saving of the town, for in many spots it quenched the fires and stemmed the conflagrations that Chandler's citizens could never have hoped to stay. The uninjured and able-bodied found themselves, from fright and confusion well nigh as helpless to render aid as their more unfortunate neighbors. Finally, when an effort to send for outside aid was made, it was found that all communication with the outside world was cut off.

Rescuing parties and physicians were sent to the scene of disaster. A plan of systematic rescue has been perfected, and the dead and dying are being released from the grimy prisons into which their homes have been formed. Improvised hospitals were erected and the unfortunates cared for. Chandler was built on a hill in thick timber, situated fifty miles southeast of Guthrie. It was one of the most prosperous boom towns, but without railroad facilities. But two buildings in the business portion are left standing.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The House adopted the amendment to the tariff bill by Grosvener, making the rate on dates and currants 2 cents a pound.

The tariff debate was closed by Mr. Millan of Tennessee for the Democrats. He denounced the trusts. Dingley of Maine closed for the Republicans.

An amendment to have the tariff bill go into effect April 1st was adopted by a vote of 201 to 150, six voting "present."

A motion to recommit the bill to the Ways and Means Committee, with instructions to report it back with all goods controlled by trusts on the free list was lost, ayes 148; noes 196.

A motion to recommit with instructions to incorporate an amendment removing the duty on articles controlled by trusts was lost by a vote of 148 to 196.

The tariff bill passed by a vote of 205 to 121. There were twenty-one present not voting.

Before the result was announced the Speaker had his name called and voted aye amid applause. His official announcement of the vote was greeted with applause by the Republicans. Five Democrats voted for the bill—Davey, Meyer, Bronsaur, Slayden and Kieberg. Howard (Pop.) of Alabama also voted for the bill. The most of the Populists and all the Silverites refused to vote. The Republicans voted solidly for the bill.

The House adjourned until Saturday. In the Senate the Hoar amendment to the arbitration treaty was adopted by an overwhelming vote, it being about five to one.

The Chilton amendment was laid on the table. An amendment by Morgan to the arbitration treaty, providing all disputes subject to the treaty shall be settled by diplomatic negotiations instead of by conventions, was defeated.

The Senate adopted the amendment offered by Senator Foraker, which provides for a separate tribunal for each case which may arise under the treaty. The tribunal cannot be continuous.

War Inevitable.

CANEA, March 31.—The Christians bombarded the block-house above the foreign ironclads replied with shells. The bombardment continued until 11 o'clock at night and was resumed this morning.

LONDON, March 31.—A dispatch from the correspondent of the Daily Chronicle at Ellassona, the headquarters of the Turkish army in Macedonia, says: "War is inevitable if the negotiations of the Powers fail. Thirty thousand insurgents armed to the teeth are waiting at a certain point on the frontier. A week from to-day is the anniversary of Greek independence. It is difficult to believe that it can pass without the enthusiasm breaking bonds, though Prince Constantine's orders are to exercise the utmost strictness to prevent unauthorized action."

PARIS, March 31.—It is announced here this afternoon that the Powers have decided to proceed with the partial blockade of Greece at an early date.

No Senatorial Election Yet.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 31.—Five ballots have been taken for Senator today, Hunter being still three short of election on each. The Assembly adjourned.

Mining Notes.

It is said that Eastern capitalists have bonded the copper mines near Yerington, and are to build mills and smelters at once.

One of the richest camps in the State was that of Candelaria, but the ore was rebellious and it was almost impossible to work it at a profit. Many experiments have been made by the English Company and at last they think they have the right method.

Editor Vandervort of the Johannesburg News has struck pay dirt near the surface of his claim. The wife of the Editor was the means of his making the strike. She visited Johannesburg, found the "float" and her husband followed it up and made what appears to be a big "scoop."

Col. J. W. Ponder and other capitalists have bought a group of mines at Randsburg. The Colonel is president of the organization. It is called the Randsburg Gold Mining, Milling and Water Co. The company is sinking several artesian wells to obtain water for mining and milling purposes. The Colonel, who has had an extended experience in mining and milling in many parts of the world, has a favorable opinion of Randsburg and vicinity and thinks the surface indications are, that there is unlimited gold bearing ore. Digging, he says, is cheap, and the only drawback is lack of water. That will no doubt be overcome if the camp proves to be rich.

Stabbed by an Indian.

Last evening O. A. Phipps was stabbed in the groin by an Indian and seriously injured. Mr. Phipps, who was seen by the reporter at his room over the Wieland Brewery, gave the following account of the affair: He was crossing from the Opera House to the sidewalk on the west side of Sierra street when the Indian called out, "I want to see you." Phipps stopped and the Indian came up and without a word struck Phipps in the groin with a knife. A scuffle followed, other men came up and Phipps was taken to his room. The Drs. Phillips were called and found a cut about an inch long in Phipps' groin, from which one of the intestines was protruding. They soon relieved the patient and do not think serious results will follow.

The Indian was arrested and taken to jail. He is quite well known in town, having worked for some time for Pothoff, the livery man. No cause is known for the assault. Mr. Phipps who is a plumber by trade, is quite well known here. He was resting easy when the reporter left.

To Prove That Ether is Matter.

A dispatch to the San Francisco Chronicle of March 28th from Chicago reports the experiments of A. A. Michelson in demonstrating that ether is matter. The investigations by Mr. Michelson and his assistant are watched with great interest by scientific men, as the result may be of the greatest importance. Mr. Michelson has invented a wonderful apparatus for his experiments and is devoting his whole attention to the subject, hoping that in a short time he will be able to present the benefit of his discovery to the public. His first results were not entirely satisfactory to him and he will make another and more thorough attempt during the present week to prove his theory providing atmospheric disturbances do not interfere. Whatever the result of his experiments they will be of great importance to science. Mr. Michelson is a brother of Mrs. H. Bergstein of this city.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 84 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up, saying: "Your boy won't live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to the use of Dr. King's New Discovery, and knows it to be the best in the world for Lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

Tangerman's Troubles.

Says the Carson News: "W. H. Tangerman, who is pretty well known all over the coast, is again in hot water, this time in Amador county, Cal., where the trouble is about wages as usual." This fellow Tangerman is the man who left the Comstock a year or so ago "by request." By a few people the action of the miners at that time was disapproved in pretty strong terms. They will find eventually that the miners were right as they generally are.

It Never Rains But It Pours.

It is less than two weeks since Carson was deluged with financial prosperity which came of the glove contest, and as if that were not enough now comes more good fortune in the drawing of a prize of $3,750 in the lottery by a lady resident of that place. With these additions Carson ought to pull through until the next event is pulled off, as they say.

It is not everyone that knows that freight teams are still employed hauling freight between this city and Carson, but such is the case. A day or so since a six-horse team with back action passed through town loaded with coal oil and Riverside flour for the Capital city. The teamster said he had been in the business three years.

Hard Work.

Some of the most successful men in the world are those who have learned the art of hard work. The hard work of the mind under compulsion of mechanism which threatens to make the human mind a mere slave to the machine. A Practical Prim's Dozen. "Man who think," asked the young man who was preparing some interviews with great people on trivial topics, "that a light opera singer should marry if she is really and truly ambitious to succeed in her art?" The queen of burlesque stopped reading what her press agent had written long enough to respond: "Surely, sir, you cannot be serious. If we didn't marry, how could the papers say any thing about our divorces?" —Washington Star.

A little grammar found in an old garret at Portland, N. THE FORTIFICATIONS OF SEVASTOPOL. which caused the allies so much trouble during the six months' defense of the fortress by the Russians, were at first very weak, and military experts say the town might have been taken by a vigorous bombardment and assault during the first few days of the siege. The ignorance of the allied generals in regard to the strength of the works caused a delay which the Russians improved by making the defenses almost impregnable.
